

Proceedings of the International Conference on

Exploration and Utilization of the Moon

November 22 – 26, 2004

Udaipur, Rajasthan, India

Guest Editor

Narendra Bhandari

Photo overleaf: A constellation of missions have been planned for carrying out scientific study of the Moon during this decade. The figure portrays some of these missions including SMART-1 of ESA, currently orbiting the Moon (extreme right), Lunar Reconnaissance Orbiter of USA (2nd from right), Chandrayaan-1 of India (centre), Chang'E of China (2nd from left) and SELENE of Japan (extreme left).