

the students. There are tennis, badminton, volleyball, and basketball courts on campus, a cricket-cum-football ground nearby, plus indoor table-tennis for those interested in sports. Nearby sal forests, a small patch of scrub vegetation on campus, are the regular haunt of the campus ornithologists and naturalists. Besides this, Rajaji Tiger Reserve, a few kilometres away, with a field-station and ongoing research and monitoring projects, is often visited by the students and researchers.

---

T R Shankar Raman obtained a Masters degree in Wildlife Science from the Wildlife Institute of India, Dehradun. He is currently a research scholar at the Centre for Ecological Sciences in the Indian Institute of Science.

---

Books Received

Stoichiometry (SI units). III ed.  B I Bhatt and S M Vora                      Tata McGraw Hill                      1996, Rs.180.	Digital Libraries. Dynamic Storehouse of Digitised Information  N M Malwad, T B Rajasekar, I K Ravichandra and N V Satyanarayan                      New Age International                      1995, Rs.475.	Tensor Calculus, Theory and Problems  A N Srivastava                      Universities Press                      1994, Rs.50.
Optimization Methods in Operations Research and Systems Analysis. III ed.  K V Mittal and C Mohan                      New Age International                      1996, Rs.135.	Elements of Cosmology  J V Narlikar                      University Press                      1996, Rs.65.	Science Matters  Robert M Hazen and James Trefil                      University Press                      1991, Rs.135.

