

Dear Friends,

*Sub: Project Lifescape

It gives me great pleasure to get back to you after a long delay. Following your initial response, a group of us have been working on formulating concrete ideas of how to develop the Lifescape material. We have by now made considerable progress and have finalized an initial list of target taxa, as well as the format to be followed. We have however as yet met with no success in our fund raising efforts. We have therefore decided to pursue the programme on a voluntary basis and make public the material developed so far. This is now being published serially in a few issues of Resonance; and is also being put on a website.

I am delighted to enclose the first of these issues of Resonance along with this letter; we will also mail you those subsequent issues that will include the Lifescape material.

I greatly look forward to your response to this material.

With warm regards,

Yours sincerely,

Madhav Gadgil
