

EDITORIAL

This issue of BMS has a special section on Porous Silicon in addition to regular research papers. Currently it is one of the most intensively investigated materials due to its potential applications in optoelectronics. Prof. Vikram Kumar, Director, Solid State Physics Laboratory, Delhi, has kindly edited these papers for BMS. We hope this will particularly benefit materials scientists working on silicon.

P Rama Rao

Editor

K J Rao

Associate Editor