

INF. & ANN.

We are happy to inform the readers of Resonance that J V Narlikar, Director of the Inter-University Centre for Astronomy and Astrophysics, Pune and Jiri Grygar of the Academy of Science, Prague, share the 1996 Kalinga prize for popularisation of science.

An earlier winner of this prestigious prize from India was Jagjit Singh, who combined a career in the railways with writing very well received popularisations of mathematics and related disciplines.
