

Flowering Trees

Milletia ovalifolia (English: Moulmein Rosewood) of Leguminosae is a medium-sized handsome deciduous tree with drooping branches and compound leaves. In leafless condition, the whole crown gets draped with drooping sprays of lilac or bright mauve flowers. Fruit is a flat pod containing two or three seeds. Milletia is highly ornamental and planted in avenues, gardens and parks.