

Flowering Trees

Citharexylum fruticosum L. (Fiddlewood) of Verbenaceae is a fast-growing moderate size tree. Whereas the tree is evergreen in tropics, it sheds half the foliage in cooler areas. The leaves are simple and lush green. Young leaves turn an unusual salmon-orange colour. Creamy white sprays of small fragrant flowers appear at the branch ends in midsummer.